- a) To establish and maintain educational institutions for giving education in veterinary science.
- b) To establish, maintain, run and administer medical relief centres, dispensaries and such other institutions as may be found necessary and feasible to provide medical relief and treatment to the animal community.
- c) To establish and maintain homes for the animals which need care and protection.
- d) To protect and increase the green effects and aesthetic appeal, take all necessary steps for preventing pollution and practices, hazardous to health of the animals.
- e) To protect and improve the civic amenities for animals.

We, in Sri Shivarama Ghoshala, strongly believe in the motto “The protection and maintenance of cows is the greatest and everlasting Dharma for all living beings”. Cows in India are not just animal but are revered as one of the icons of the country’s culture, civilization and are worshipped as Ghomatha. Ghoshala in Sanskrit word means, sanctuary for the Ghomatha. Actually all gods are believed to reside in the body of Ghomatha the divine cow. In Srimad Bhagavatam, Lord Krishna says “ ... I can be worshipped within cows by offering of grass and suitable grains for the pleasure and health of the cows.

At present Sri Shivarama Ghoshala, has 20 cows and calves at any time. Ghomatha (cow) Samrakshanai is utmost important not only for the individuals but also for the entire world. We take utmost care in maintaining aged cows which have passed the capacity of giving milk. All the cows will have bathing every day and they are provided with food like green fodders, hay, agathiyakeerai and concentrated food twice a day. Cows are provided with medical care by engaging veterinary doctor at the Ghoshala itself from time to time. Separate persons who have rich experience in the Ghoshala activities are employed on permanent basis.

It is pertinent to point out that the milk yields from the cows are used for the Abhinaya Vishnu Durga Temple and the Vidyarthi of the Veda Padasala run and managed by the Shivram Trust and the milk is not sold for commercial gains.

The trust shall neither be carried on for profit nor any of its activity carried with intention of earning profit.

It may be noted that the expenses are increasing in the tune with the additional new born calves. The average maintenance expenses, which includes Food, Fodder & Medical expenses for one cow is approximately Rs. 6,000/- per month. We expect the number of cows and calves will be increased by 20% every year due to its natural progression . Our current Corpus does not yield the desired interest income to maintain the Ghoshala and the gap needs to be met with donations from philanthropic individuals and corporates for raising additional Corpus fund to step up the interest income to bridge the monthly deficit of Rs. 1,00,000/-. In other words, we need to increase our Corpus fund by another Rs. 1.5 Crores to maintain the Ghoshala activities without financial constraints.

We give below the details of monthly expenses being incurred currently and also proposed project cost.
